

Progyny Hires Julie Stadlbauer as Vice President of Business Development

Stadlbauer brings almost 20 years of health insurance sales and business experience to foster Progyny client base

New York, NY, May 25, 2017 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Progyny, the leading fertility benefits company, today announced that it has hired Julie Stadlbauer as Vice President of Business Development. Reporting to Karin Ajmani, President of Healthcare Services, Stadlbauer will be responsible for cultivating and fostering strong relationships with large employers across the country looking to adopt fertility benefits into their offerings to employees.

“Julie is a veteran sales leader for health insurance organizations,” said Ajmani. “Her experience in solving problems for clients and using her entrepreneurial spirit to provide comprehensive offerings that accommodate each organization’s needs will make her a vital asset as Progyny continues to grow.”

Stadlbauer joins Progyny from ConsumerMedical, where she served as Western US Vice President of Employer Solutions. While at ConsumerMedical, she expanded awareness and presence in the western US, helping employers to realize the value of medical decision support and second opinion services. She has also held senior level positions at Bloom Health, CIGNA Healthcare National Accounts, and Health Net.

“It’s an honor to work for an organization with such a powerful mission - to ensure that anyone can have a child when they want,” said Stadlbauer. “I’m eager to help power Progyny’s continued growth as more large employers seek to support their employee’s career and family building goals by implementing differentiating benefits to attract and retain top talent.”
